- Assessment of the market situation for Organic Pumpkin seeds

New crop! Organic Pumpkin seeds from China and Europe

According to our information, we can give the following perspective on the new crop of Organic Pumpkin seeds:

Crop in China:

Both in the northwest and in the northeast, harvesting will continue until the end of October. Taking into account sampling, pre-carriage and still long transit times, we expect the goods at the beginning of January.

Organic GWS: Due to high temperatures, the seeds died early, which will lead to a lower harvest volume. Limited availability is therefore expected.

Organic Shine Skin: Floods in the north-east of China at the beginning of August will also limit the available quantity of Bio-Shine Skin from this region of China.

As prices for conventional Pumpkin seeds are on a downward trend, this could also be expected for organic produce. However, limited availability is likely to lead to increased demand for the last quantities that comply with EU regulations and to an associated high price level. For the new harvest, it remains to be seen how the first analyses will meet EU organic requirements. The Christmas and New Year holidays must also be taken into account. Particular mention should be made of the Chinese New Year, which leads to the closure of most factories from 01.22-02.05.25.

It is therefore advisable to stock up in good time!

Crop in Europe:

The harvest in Poland will continue until around the middle/end of October. Part of it has already been harvested.

Due to the heavy rainfall, a crop loss of approx. 10% is expected in Austria. About half has already been harvested, the other half is still to come. Some areas in Austria are currently inaccessible due to the disaster protection zones, which makes it difficult to estimate when the harvest will be completed.
